

The barn was built by John Henry Lewis Clegg shortly after his marriage to Martha Ellen Smith in 1889. It was located behind his home on Sixth South and Main Streets in Heber City, and was used for storage of hay and for winter shelter for horses and cows. ~~For many years it~~ After John's death in 1930, the barn was used by his son, Henry Cardwell Clegg, for the same purposes. In the mid-1950's it was removed to make way for residential and commercial development. Many of the logs from the barn were re-used to build an animal shelter in the Sixth South - ~~tenth~~ Mill Road corner of the field.
